Average Day:

On a day to day basis Mike wakes up around 1 and either walks or rides his BMX bike to work which takes anywhere from 20 to 40 minutes. On his way to work he usually stops at McDonald's for breakfast. He gets two egg McMuffins every morning. He arrives at work and opens up the liquor store. He gets done with work late and heads directly home, either stopping back at McDonald's or head to a nearby taco Bell. His fridge at home is full of old take out containers and beer that he brings home from work. He can't find the time or motivation to make it to the store which is a 45 minute walk and a 30 minute bus ride. He chooses to stay home and drink with his roommates.

Goals:

making rent by the end of the month. He has given up on a lot of other things due to the lack of energy he has from malnutrition.
